BOW-STREET.—(THIS DAY.)

A powerful looking young man, with his shirt sleeves rolled up, who gave the name of Robert Burke, was charged before Mr. Hardy under the following circumstances.

Police-constable F 112 stated that about twenty minutes past five o'clock yesterday evening he was on duty in Pall-mall, when a female came up to him and said, "Policeman, I want you to come to the corner of Spring-gardens." He hurried to the spot, and found the prisoner's father-in-law, and another man, and several persons, fighting together in a most violent manner. The first three, at the moment he arrived, were the worst, lying on the ground, and striking their fists at each other as hard as they could. He pulled them up, and the prisoner then struck him a violent blow on the face. Directly witness appeared on the scene the prisoner made up an assault on another person, with whom, a female came up to him and said, "Policeman, I want you to come in
